New Type of Plastic Gains Popular Uses
NEW YORK (U)—In the next two or three years, you probably will be squeezing or otherwise handling some polyethylene every day.

This plastic, which began as a "war baby" 10 years ago, has shown the fastest growth in its field. The navy first used it to insulate radar equipment. But that was only the beginning.

Today, polyethylene is available in hundreds of consumer products. It is the famous "squeeze bottle" plastic used to dispense hand lotion and hair tonic, perfume and pepper.

It is made into combs, tableware, ice cube trays and poker chips.

Polyethylene can be dainty enough to grace a dressing table or tough enough to be used as practice golf balls and tow targets for airplane gunnery practice.

Turned into film less than two-thousandths of an inch thick, the plastic is ideal for packaging vegetables and frozen foods. Or even soy sauce.

Polyethylene starts out as a white wax-like solid, which is converted from a gas named ethylene at tremendous pressures. The resin is then molded or extruded into various and products.

In addition, polyethylene may be used to coat other materials. Currently, the output of polyethylene is around 125 million pounds a year. By 1965, this total will be 500 million pounds, which means about three pounds a year for every man, woman and child in the country.

Union Carbide and Carbon corporation, the world's second largest chemical company, is investing an estimated 100 million dollars in polyethylene expansion. The firm expects to account for one-half of the plastic's output when this program is completed in two years.

Industrial uses of the plastic range from light-weight pipe to containers for corrosive chemicals.

Polyethylene has a place on the farm, too. Huge envelopes of the plastic are being used to grow small algae as a nutritive, low-cost feed for stock animals.

Mishap Takes Worker's Life

BURLEY, April 12—Harold Raymond McDonald, 26, former resident of Buhl, was killed Saturday while working for the Silver State Construction company at Filer, Nev. Details of the accident are not known but it is believed he was struck by a gravel truck.

Mr. McDonald was born Aug. 11, 1927, at Filer, Nev. He lived at Buhl and Filer before going to work for the construction company a year ago. He married Iris Hunt at Elko, Nev., April 30, 1951.

Surviving are his widow, two sons, Harold McDonald and Kenneth McDonald; his mother, Mrs. Floyd Collins; his father, Harold McDonald; his brother, Harold McDonald; his sister, Mrs. Edna McDonald; his grandparents, Mrs. Edna McDonald, Filer, and Mrs. Edna McDonald, Filer, and Mrs. Edna McDonald, Filer.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Buhl LDS church with Bishop Earle Quigley officiating. Concluding services will be held at the Buhl cemetery under the direction of the Albertson funeral home.

Car Crash Hurts Pocatello Youth
RUPERT, April 12—Don Bels, 15, Pocatello, is in fair condition at the Rupert General hospital as a result of injuries received in an automobile accident at 1:30 a.m. Monday 20 miles east of Rupert on highway 39 in Cassia county.

The youth was riding with his mother, Mrs. Mary Peterson, Pocatello, who was driving a 1947 Studebaker owned by Henry Cash, Pocatello, when the automobile went out of control on a curve. Both the boy and his mother were thrown from the machine but the car rolled on top of the boy. His mother incurred only slight injuries.

The two injured persons were brought to the hospital by Marvin Larson, Rupert. Mrs. Peterson was treated at the hospital and released. Sheriff's deputies estimated the automobile is a total loss.

Clear Title Asked In Property Case

Walter L. Loy filed suit in district court Monday to declare a property deed void and restore the property to him. Defendant in the suit is Frances Reed. The property is about 38 acres in Hagerman valley and was owned by both parties, he claims.

Loy claims she had the deed recorded with what was purported to be his signature to her for $2,500. He claims this was done April 8 on a deed dated March 3. He claims he never knowingly signed the deed or received any consideration.

Loy states he was ill in St. Benedict's hospital, Jerome, when she asked him to sign a will. He states he was not rational during some of the time he was hospitalized. Rayborn, Heyburn and Kramer are the attorneys.

Care of Your Children By ANGELO PATRI

It is springtime and the earth is coming alive, dressed in soft green, sunshine on her face, flowers in her arms. The birds are coming back and there is a feeling of joy in every breeze. Children and springtime belong together and anything that teachers and parents can do to bring that about will be for the good of the youngsters. The fortunate ones who live in the country can get closer to springtime joy than those who live in the cities. They can wander over the fields and see the pussywills coming out. They can find the first spring beauty and mark the bird's nest. They can explore the brook-bed and get a clutch of frog's eggs. What fun to take them to school, put them in the globe with some gravel and water grass and watch them hatch into tadpoles, then into frogs, and then carry them back to the brook. City children cannot do much of this, so the teacher must help them out a little. She can get a country friend to give her a couple of rods of hepaticas which will come along nicely into bloom if set in a soup plate and kept just moist. Violets are good for that treatment, too. And the country cousins can send along a jar full of those frog's eggs for the aquarium.

The teacher can carry twigs and branches of shrubs and trees which will sprout and bloom if set in a big jar filled with water. Flowering quince, forsythia, pussywillow, apple and pear branches, cherry and plum, too, will behave well under such conditions. The children will be delighted by their beauty and they will love taking care of them. Association with nature is a healing, comforting experience. A short car ride will take the family into the country. A picnic lunch under a big tree beside a brook will be a joyful event. The sweep of sky, the depth of its blue, will ease any tensions town life has created. The breadth of space the fields afford will remove the breathless, cramped feeling that crowded conditions induce. The peace and quiet will calm the troubled mind and the family will go home renewed in body and spirit.

On such excursions please do remember that you are guests and behave politely. Ask permission to enter the fields. Be careful to put back any bars you lift and to close any gates you found closed. And leave no trace of rubbish behind you. That way you will make your visits welcome. Would you like to encourage your child to eat? Discussion Held By Garden Club

JEROME, April 12—A roundtable discussion of roses, including the best varieties for growth in Magic Valley, was heard by members of the Jerome Garden club Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. M. Stroud. Participating in the discussion were Mrs. R. H. Callen, Mrs. Frank Thomas and Mrs. Darrell Rigney. Mrs. Bertha Fairman and Mrs. Stroud talked on window boxes. It was reported that the club project of planting flowers at the cemetery has been completed. Sixty rose bushes have been planted with youths from Carter Luther's agriculture class digging the holes. Members also discussed holding a tulip tea during May. A report was given on the recent visit to the Gooding Garden Club.

Exchange Held

SHOSHONE, April 12—A recipe exchange was held at the meeting of the Jolly Stitches club Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. A. Schuppert.

Mrs. Clarence Gehrig conducted the business session. The April 22 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. A. Oneda.

Legion Auxiliary Features Reports

HAGERMAN, April 12—The American Legion auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. O. P. Molony Thursday evening. Mrs. Claude Butts, ex. president, reported Girls states applications had been mailed. Plans were made for the annual Gold Star mothers luncheon to be held in the Methodist church in May. The menu was planned and the program arranged. An invitation will be extended to the Wendell auxiliary unit. Donations were voted to the wooden church crusade, a project of the national auxiliary president, and to the cancer drive. Mrs. Harry Snodgrass is the unit's representative on the Health council. It was announced that Mrs. Elsie Luscher will arrange the display window for poppy day May 29 in Owsley's Dry Goods store. Mrs. Butts will be in charge of the cooked food sale that day.

Legion members met at the home of Ernest Billard and were guests for refreshments at the Molony home. Hostesses were Mrs. Molony and Mrs. John Mavencamp.

EUROPE MUST HAVE TRADE

A good deal of criticism would appear certain to greet the announcement that the United States has agreed with Britain and France to revise downward the list of strategic goods embargoed in trade with Russia and the iron curtain countries.

This will likely develop despite the fact it was decided not to lift restrictions on strategic shipments to communist China and North Korea. Such shipments could be deemed to assist a buildup for a possible breaking of the armed truce in Korea between U. N. and red forces.

As for permitting wider trade with Russia and its European satellites, the critics will contend, with considerable plausibility, that this will be of very definite benefit to the Soviet orbit. There is no question about it.

A likely further argument is that this is particularly not the moment to help the Soviet empire, since some reports have it that these nations are in serious economic distress. Why shouldn't we simply let them flounder?

Certainly the west has no great impulse to assist communism out of its difficulties. They know the favor would never be granted in reverse. They are thinking of themselves, not the Soviet union and its puppets.

Western European countries must have trade outlets. Before World War II, they had a sizable trade with eastern European nations. It was a natural relationship. The east-west struggle forced a breaking of most of these ties. But countries like Britain and France have never found wholly adequate substitute outlets.

Steadily they have appealed to America to lower its barriers to trade so more of their products could be sold here. But despite such efforts as President Eisenhower's latest to win acceptance of a more liberal policy, congress has turned a deaf ear.

A good many of us seem to want to have our cake and eat it, too. We want to deny Europe access to our markets; and at the same time forbid it to trade with communist lands. But how are these trading Europeans supposed to live?

It was the judgment of the Eisenhower administration that the U. S. should go along with a relaxation of trade restrictions on east-west dealings. But this we can be sure of: Whether we went along or not, the western nations would trade where they felt they had to. We have no power to tell them what they can or cannot do.

THE GENEVA HEADACHE

Less than a month from now the Western powers and the Communist leaders of Russia, China and North Korea will gather at Geneva to talk of Far Eastern settlements. It will require all of Secretary of State Dulles' diplomatic skill to avert a result that will produce a red victory, ultimately if not immediately.

Nobody can push the United States into a phony settlement on Korea. As the principal Western belligerent in the Korean war, we hold the whip hand over the course of peace negotiations there. We will not accept any arrangement that compromises the independence and freedom of South Korea.

The story on Indo-China is different. Though we pay more than three-fourths of the cost of the French war effort, it is the French and Viet Namese natives who do the fighting. Consequently, France has the initiative in diplomatic discussions on this subject, and France wants a truce.

Most Western observers, including Americans, have concluded that any truce which could now be arrived at with the Communists on Indo-China would surely lead to red control of the country.

In their anxiety to get out from under a war that has dragged on for eight years and has drained French resources in seeming futility, the French appear ready to take almost any kind of settlement that has even the remotest look of fairness.

Approaching Geneva in that frame of mind, they are probably predisposed not to scan Communist proposals with a close eye for traps. It is no overstatement to say that this prospect is one of peril for the United States and the whole free world.

Possibly the best thing to hope for at Geneva is that the Communists make such absurd demands on the Indo-China question that not even the French can swallow them. It would not be the first time the Reds have kicked away a beautiful chance to sow deep trouble for the Western allies.

What the French will do if there is no truce is not a happy story, either. About all that can be said now is that a truce and its likely aftermath would seem to be a worse one.

LONG LIVE THE POPE

It is good news that Pope Plus XII is now fully recovered from his recent dangerous illness. Though he is 78, the world must hope that he still has a number of years of useful life as spiritual leader in a troubled world.

Plus XII has long spoken with ringing authority for peace, for sanity, for an avoidance of extremes in an age when peoples everywhere seemed bent upon polarizing their attitudes in rigid postures that permit of no yielding.

The Pope's voice is the counsel of moderation, of caution, of reasonableness. We badly need its calming effect amid the din and clamor of harsher voices.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—Although Sen. "Joe" McCarthy's intricate financial affairs have been investigated and questioned by a senate subcommittee, Attorney-General Herbert Brownell, Jr. says that he finds no evidence of wrongdoing by the hunter of reds.

But McCarthy's reported failure to make any income tax reports from 1948 to 1949, inclusive, when he earned $7,597 as a Wisconsin judge for one year and $12,500 annually as a senator for three years, not to mention investment profits, may bring him under review by the Coleman Andrews, the Virginian who heads internal revenue. Under the law, however, he cannot discuss even the humblest taxpayer's relationship with Uncle Sam.

McCarthy's various deals were submitted to the departments of justice and treasury by a senate subcommittee on privileges and elections after a lengthy examination. But Brownell's conclusion indicates that the senator's heavy bank borrowings and stock market speculations are beyond his jurisdiction. Finally, if it is found that back taxes are due, there need be no publicity about any repayment.

McCarthy's wealth—Before discussing the senator's pocketbook, bank and stock market ventures, it should be noted that he is an extremely smart operator. His bank-financed investments in soybeans, railroad stock and other commodities and securities have made him a fairly wealthy man.

His crusade against communists, which has the backing of Texas multimillionaires and many $5 contributors, has won him wide popularity. In fact, the senate investigators asked whether he was using these contributions to finance his fight against the reds or what.

Six times he has refused to testify before the senate subcommittee, denouncing the inquiry as a "smear." By a 60-0 vote, the full chamber sided with the subcommittee.

BEGAN ATTACK ON REDS IN 1950—McCarthy began his now famous attack on reds in government in a Lincoln day address at Wheeling, W. Va., in February of 1950. Immediately, although this particular speech was handed to him in his own manner among scores of party philippics distributed by the Republican national committee, the money began to roll in.

On Sept. 7, 1950, he opened a $10,000 account at the National Savings and Trust Company of Washington, D. C. He started a smaller account at the Riggs National Bank in May. The sum of $10,000 came from Rep. Alvir M. Bentley of Michigan. In March of 1951, Mrs. Bentley contributed another $5,000.

CHECK FOR $10,000—Three weeks after depositing the Bentley $10,000, McCarthy authorized Jean Kerr, then his secretary and now his wife, to withdraw that amount to the account of an old friend in his home town of Appleton, Wis., Henry J. Van Straten. The latter promptly turned the check over to McCarthy's broker, Wayne Hummer and company, who bought soybeans for future delivery.

This deal produced a $17,500 profit within a few months, and Van Straten deposited $10,000 of it to McCarthy's account at the Riggs National Bank. For the 1949-1952 period, inclusive, McCarthy banked $148,273.13 with Riggs. His staff aide and long-time friend, Ray Kiermas, deposited $15,309.23 in the same years. On advice of counsel, Kiermas refused to answer any questions about his finances.

SCOFFED AT LIE-DETECTOR SUGGESTION—Senator McCarthy scoffed at a national magazine's suggestions that he submit to a lie detector test, although he has proposed use of this medium in his current controversy with the army over the Cohn-Schne incident.

McCarthy's financial affairs, about which many readers are so curious, are too tangled to be discussed in a single article. They will be examined in detail in a subsequent column, with all facts based on the subcommittee report.

Incidentally, it is almost impossible to obtain that document because of the reorganized committee's refusal to authorize or finance additional copies. A McCarthy friend, Sen. William E. Jenner, Indiana, now runs the committee on privileges and elections.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

ALUMINUM BOX JUSTICE

It may be that the "cafeteria court" idea is being carried too far in Norman, Okla. The Norman plan is being hailed as a convenient way to pay overparking tickets. Maybe it's too convenient. A motorist receives an envelope with his parking ticket. He may enclose 50 cent and drop it into the "cafeteria," an aluminum box attached to each parking meter, and his troubles are over as to overparking. If he waits 48 hours the payment is $1, and so on. The Norman police chief thinks this pay-as-you-overpark plan will prove a bonanza to the department and will be a convenience to those too busy or sensitive to visit the police station.

Maybe so, but the gadget-expediency philosophy has a way of expanding. What if the meter is out of order or the motorist otherwise feels imposed upon? Can you argue with the aluminum box? If the "cafeteria" proves popular—and it may since street parking is no more costly than some lot parking—future speeders may be handed an envelope with a ticket with the invitation to enclose two or three $10 bills and drop them in a box. Traffic courts have already gone so far in the direction of assembly line "justice" it is presumed all traffic "defendants" are guilty and ready to pay up. Depriving free people of the privilege of pleading not guilty and maybe arguing with a cop may build up some dangerous frustrations as well as some unsound ideas about law and order.—Salt Lake Tribune

PROPAGANDA AND RED ATOM GUNS

Frankly we wouldn't risk much money on the reliability of "well-informed sources" in Moscow who claim that the Soviet army has atomic artillery and has tested it on recent maneuvers.

But there is no good reason to suppose that the Russians, who have always been artillery-minded, cannot perfect a field piece with nuclear ammunition just as the United States has done. We ought to have learned by now that secret weapons aren't secret long, especially when they're as highly touted as the U. S. army's "Atomic Annie."

The atomic energy commission, which has scientific ways of knowing whenever there's a nuclear explosion on this planet, refuse to confirm or deny the Moscow report. The AEC said some time ago, however, that it would not report any future Soviet tests unless they were of special significance, which means whatever they want it to mean.

The best guess is that the Moscow boast, whether true or false, is a propaganda ploy to counteract the assignment of U. S. atomic artillery units to Germany.

This international game of announcing, or "leaking," news on development of new and potent weapons is quite like a bridge game, in which the bidding may or may not disclose what the players hold, but nobody knows for sure until the hand is played.—Los Angeles Times

A VETO WAS IN ORDER HERE

One of the least necessary bills passed by this congress has just been signed by President Eisenhower. The bill would allow importation of Mexican farm workers without Mexico's consent.

Advocates of this measure have contended that it would "protect" working conditions of the Mexican braceros. Yet Mexico and the United States recently signed an agreement spelling out just such protection.

Nobody should claim with a straight face that the Mexicans need protection twice, and in fact the bill was not passed to protect them at all. It was passed to permit big farm and ranch employers to use low-cost labor, and also to pressure Mexico into reaching a new agreement on the migrants, which that country finally did.

This legislation was an insult to the Mexican government and Mexican pride, and no favor to our relations with Latin America.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch

POT SHOTS

AMBITIOUS, ANYWAY

Could he be giving you per-iodic reports this summer on the activities of a Novice Gardener? You've already heard his opinion of fertilizers. Well, here's another incident in his early experience at gardening.

It seems he was going to get an early start on his garden—his very first garden, too. This all happened before any plowing was done. He figured it wouldn't be right to plow those weeds under, so he proceeded to pull 'em. It was a rather slow job, but he could see he was accomplishing something.

Then during a break in his efforts, he carried one of the weeds over to the neighbor to inquire about the identity of the weed. The neighbor literally screamed:

"That's a strawberry plant!"

PEN PALS DEPT.

We have two letters on hand from Lagos, Nigeria, from young fellows who are seeking "pen friends." One describes himself as a boy of 19 with light complexion while the other starts out with "Venerable Sir." These two fellows want to exchange letters with anyone and everyone. You might also be warned, in the words of one, that "I have many African goods to exchange for American goods." They're John D. Reis, 32 Ardroya St., and P. N. Jackson, 35 Blunho St., both Lagos, Nigeria.

THIS IS APPROPRIATE

Pot Shots:

The novice that was being taught the fundamentals of gardening reminded me of the story told on the inmate of the mental institution.

A man on the outside was driving down the road with a load of fertilizer. An inmate asked him what he was going to do with it.

"I'm putting it on my strawberries" was the reply.

The inmate looked thoughtful. Then, wisely, "You had better come inside; we have sugar and cream on ours!"

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—Allice Patterson, in private life Mrs. Harry P. Guggenheim, has brought to a soggy triumph a great scrap by an obscure daily paper of restricted circulation area.

This vigorous genius took out after William D. DeKoenigs, senior and junior, brutal inattentive thugs and thieves who were running a fat local of the Union of Operating Engineers in Minneapolis, L. I. Westbrook Pegler in Minneapolis, L. I. where Allice founded few years ago a tabloid called Newsday. She has now destroyed the De Koenigs but without appropriate punishment and she is willing to let it go at that.

Allice is a daughter of the late Joseph Medill Patterson who started the New York News just after the first war. She very much resembles the late Joe or Jump as the staff called him, daring, original and as often wrong-headed. Jump, for instance, fell for F. D. Roosevelt all the way down to the proposition of a second World War for the United States by which time he had endorsed or condoned most of Roosevelt's anti-constitutional innovations.

He needlessly gave the Newspaper guild a closed shop, a harsh affront to loyal employees who hated the guild and deserved his help in preserving their status as individuals apart from the mass.

Now the guild was to take over his editorial function—a bureaucratic word but my best effort at the moment—and the relations between these people and their old patron, baron and papa ceased to be affectionate and became contractual. Jump had been a socialist as a kid and had written a punk-but-noisy novel called "The Little Brother of the Rich" which he thought less and less of as years went by.

Allice looks a good deal like her late Aunt Cissy, who published the Washington Times-Herald and fought the whole mocking new deal cabal with profane gusto and, on dying, left the paper to a passel of employees of the city-room and business office who reacted just as she probably thought they would.

I have been watching Allice's job on the De Koenigs for three years and it is a personal and artistic disappointment to hear her say in a surprisingly spiritless mood that if senior gets a year in prison he will come out a broken man. It is not easy to say off-hand how much time off the late end of a no-good's life is enough to balance years of oppression of his fellow-men and extortion so greedy over so long a time that the local district attorney hasn't enough official funds to find out how much he did steal.

But certainly Junior De Koenigs is young and guilty enough to get 30 years subject to statutory discounts starting after, say, a decade. They both have been predators for years and the judge could, if he had a mind to, put them away for as long as they live on consecutive sentences.

Allice and Alan Hathway, her managing editor, began to dig on an original tip that the De Koenigs were extorting money from a group of contractors who were building row on row of family houses to sell at less than $10,000. They were laying a "cellar" tax of $8 per house which was a way of saying that for $8 per house they excused these contractors from employing a "holsting" engineer whose services simply could not have been used anyway because there was no work for "holsting" on Flimzy bowers of two stories at most.

About 60,000 or maybe 70,000 of these houses were built, so the De Koenigs, sire and son, and each a credit to the other, clipped the poor, yearning aspirants to little homes with roses round the door for a total of from $480,000 to $560,000 on this item alone.

This deal was done under the auspices of the International Union of Operating Engineers, the old Joe Pegler racket, and De Koenigs, the elder, was office boy, flunkie and professional protegee of the old master who held court in his Sing Sing cell with politicians, unionneers and other crooks of high degree calling to seek his favor.

The president of the racket is William E. Maloney, with headquarters in Chicago, who has or had a mansion in Miami Beach, a racing stable and a stock farm in Illinois and who is splendidly immune so far to the harrassments that have befallen Pegler, the De Koenigs and other subordinates. It means nothing nowadays to say that his union is one of the crookedest we have. It is that, to be sure, but nobody cares and in the case of the De Koenigs the formal reproach from the court will seem almost like an endorsement.

Of course the De Koenigs also shook the heavy construction industry, but Allice and Hathway and a couple of reporters struck little fire outside their own narrow circulation area until the harness-track expose began. They were threatened with bodily harm as the saying goes, but were not impressed.

Then, with a murder in the Bronx to go on, the big press began to mill around and confirmed Allice's reiterated proof that the De Koenigs were running a saloon called a labor-lycium at which thousands of mutual clerks, ushers, ticket sellers and special cops at the Roosevelt harness track were forced to spend $8 a week for a bottle of booze.

It was a social error to drink this liquor which went back to the bar at the closing hour. The waitress

U. S. Citizens Have 24 Million Acres

(I am turning over today's column to my friend, Conrad L. Wirth, director of the national park service, Washington, D. C.)

Do you know that you personally are the biggest landowner in America with 24 million acres of just about the choicest land in the whole world?

Your holdings include fishing streams, big game refuges, historical landmarks, the last big "is" was wilderness areas in the country.

If you haven't guessed it, this land of yours is the national park system, open to everyone, regardless of position, religious persuasion or nationality.

This great area contains many things. For example, in the Rand McNally World Atlas are listed the seven natural wonders of the world—and six of these seven are in your national parks and monuments:

Carlsbad Caverns of New Mexico which has an underground room 5,000 feet long and 625 feet wide, with a ceiling at places 300 feet above the floor;

Crater Lake, Oregon, a treasure box of incomparable scenery where a 14,000-foot mountain cone "blew girls were held to account, through their union, for the safe delivery of the bottles. The De Koenigs owned the waitresses and the bartenders, too. Senior got an average of $73,000 a year for the last three years from the bar alone.

The AFL, by order of the boss bum, George Meany, the national president, who tells President Eisenhower how "labor" feels about things, has picked up the charter of the Track Employers' union and sent it a resolver to run the rackets until further notice. The De Koenigs still own the Engineers' charter.

All these union rackets were interlaced with crooked Republican politicians all over the state and governor Dewey's remedial courses are now excusing past larcenies in which thieving Republican bosses wallowed with the grand abandon of Jersey Democrats in the same vulgarities on their side of the Hudson. The loot from so-called welfare rackets is kissed goodbye with no thought of prosecution or recovery.

The spunk has gone out of journalism when a worthy daughter of Joseph Medill Patterson, having won a crusade, is willing to settle for a wan hope that the same crooked politicians who stood for and by the De Koenigs for years, will ask God to help them all be better boys.

Now, more than 20 million acres have been taken up by the likes of Canada, Germany, Italy, Mexico, New Zealand, and so on. National parks (for the physical and spiritual benefit of the largest of all is the national park in the United States—Allice—with more than 24 million acres.

But beyond the present our natural wonder is the monument of the economy which maintains many great monuments.

Among these monuments you will find the monument on the continent of Alaska, the highest in the U. S. (Mt. White) at the lowest point in the (Death Valley) California low sea level; the mountains under the Sun (El Morro, at San Juan Rico); active volcanoes (Kilauea, in Hawaii); the historical object in Liberty Bell.

Attending to the property of the parks and monuments last year 48 million of the 180 areas—about 100 million population of the United States—only 1 million in them in 1920; 1 million in 1930; 1 million in 1940; 1 million in 1950.

Define Surface
this Urged

April 12 (AP)—The bill to define surface rights in mining is in the hands of the Secretary of the Interior. It has been introduced in the House by Representative Edward J. Roybal.

The bill is designed to eliminate conflicts between federal and state laws regarding mining. It would not affect the bill's purpose for mining purposes.

Legislation is necessary through the Supreme Court's decision in the general mining law of 1872, which has been passed on the government to use the mining claims.

U.S. Scientists Tackle Butter Cost Problem

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Government scientists are trying to find a practical way to cut butter prices without cutting the dairy farmer's income.

Dr. G. E. Hilbert, director of utilization research for the agriculture department's research service, said these scientists are trying to develop a series of new, higher-priced products made from skim milk.

Progress 'Excellent'

If milk processors could get higher prices for skim milk products they could afford to sell butter cheaper or prices paid to farmers for milk.

"Excellent progress has been made in producing flavorable products from non-fat milk solids," Hilbert said.

An aide, Dr. Harry Von Loeck, said research workers were trying to perfect a process for drying non-fat milk powder without leaving a "cooked" flavor in the milk. In other laboratories, scientists are developing what they hope will be a cheap new dairy spread made from whey.

"you mean the taxes are lower on long distance calls?"

YES—effective April 1, Congress reduced the Federal Excise Taxes from 25% to 10% on Long Distance telephone calls. That means, for example, that your tax on a call costing $1.00 will be only 10c, compared with 25c before April 1.

This saving goes entirely to our customers—not one penny of it to the Telephone Company. What's more, the tax on your local service has been reduced from 15% to 10%.

U.S. Leads World For Water Power

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—The geological survey estimates that at the end of 1953 the nations of the world had waterpower plants with installed capacity of 115,600,000 horsepower.

The United States, the survey said, had up to then installed waterpower plants with capacity of 31 million horsepower, or 26.8 per cent of the world total.

Installed capacity throughout the world was estimated to have increased 502 per cent between 1920 and 1953 while capacity in this country increased 413 per cent.

The report said projects now under construction in the U. S. will add roughly 1,850,000 horsepower annually to the national total during the next three years. It added that the largest plants under construction, on the Columbia and Missouri rivers, will have ultimate capacity of seven million horsepower.

In estimating distances, the Chinese once used two scales, one for uphill miles and the other for downhill miles, says the National Geographic society.

1954 Mobilgas Economy Run

21.8 miles per gallon averaged by 20 stock American cars in certified test

In the greatest road test of performance and mileage characteristics of American stock cars, 20 automobiles vied for Sweepstakes and price class honors in the 1954 Mobilgas Economy Run. These cars were protected with new Mobiloil Special and used a completely new gasoline—which is soon to be announced to the public.

Under supervision of the American Automobile Association, the 20 cars started the 1335-mile, maximum legal speed course from Los Angeles up into Yosemite National Park, and on to San Francisco. The second day, drivers pushed up the snow-packed Sierras, over 7135-foot Donner Summit, across Nevada to Elko. Wednesday, the cars finished the last leg into Sun Valley.

Temperature ranged from desert heat to near freezing; cars went from sea level to 7135 feet, with widely varying humidity conditions that tested both engine and new gasoline performance.

COMPLETELY NEW MOTOR FUEL USED—NEW MOBILGAS SPECIAL

The Mobilgas Economy Run was the final and conclusive test in an exhaustive series of research and road tests of New Mobilgas Special. The more than 28,000 miles covered by the competing cars capped the most thorough checking

A.A.A. SANCTIONED—Stock cars identical with those you buy were picked at random by 3-A. Cars carried average passenger load of 4 persons with luggage, or the equivalent. Deputized A.A.A. men rode in each car to check all driving practices, see that maximum speed limits and all other traffic laws were strictly observed.

ENGINES CHECKED—Automotive engineers checked and tore down engines. They found completely clean engines; spark plugs, carburetor and automatic choke free of any deposits.

WATCH FOR ANNOUNCEMENT OF NEW MOBILGAS SPECIAL IN THIS NEWSPAPER NEXT WEEK!

Local Shooters Win Junior Rifle Championships in Tourney Held Here Sunday

Joe Seaver, jr., Twin Falls, retained his Idaho state gallery junior rifle championship Sunday while Joan Shaffer, Twin Falls, won the girls' title held by her cousin Linda Shaffer, in last year's shoot.

Young Seaver shot 630 of a possible 650 to retain his crown. Miss Shaffer's score was 583. In the team match, Twin Falls team No. 1 took top honors with 938 of a possible 1,000 points.

Hogan, Snead Play For Masters Title

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 12 (U.P.) — Their game wasn't as steady as usual but old pros Ben Hogan and Sam Snead were shooting for the Masters golf crown today in a special playoff minus the real star of the event—Billy Joe Patton.

Patton, who for a fleeting moment defied the tradition that amateurs and holes-in-one can't win major golf titles, faded to wind up just a stroke back of Snead and Hogan, who finished with shaky 289's.

That score is just not supposed to win the masters at the Augusta National course where par is 72. And Hogan never would have expected to lead the field with it. Hogan, by contrast, shot 15 strokes better in his record 1953 Masters victory, and 286 by Snead in 1952 was the highest ever to win it before.

Cards' 'Old War Horse' Joins Yankees in 11th Hour Trade

NEW YORK, April 12 (U.P.) — Enos Slaughter, the balding old war horse of the St. Louis Cardinals, joined the New York Yankees today and if history repeats itself he will be just the insurance Casey Stengel needs to wrap up his sixth straight American league pennant.

The 38-year-old veteran of 16 years with the Redbirds was dealt to the Yankees Sunday less than 48 hours before the opening of the season for pitcher Mel Wright and three unnamed players who will be assigned to Card farm clubs.

Five times before, the Yanks have reached into the National league for players other clubs thought were washed up, and almost every time the deal turned out to the advantage of the world champions.

They obtained Johnny Mize from the Pittsburgh Pirates, Johnny Sain from the Boston Braves, Ewell Blackwell from the Cincinnati Reds

Race Car Driver Injured in Crash At Pebble Beach

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., April 12 (U.P.) — A spectacular four-car crash, which hospitalized one driver with critical injuries, halted the annual Pebble Beach sports car road race in the 47th lap today.

Chick Leson, of Lafayette, Calif., driving an OSCA, was ruled the winner of the "under 1500 class" after Dr. J. K. Skivington of Stockton, Calif., plowed into a tree and three other cars plowed into the wreckage.

John Von Neumann, of North Hollywood, Calif., drove a Porsche to second place and drivers Cy Yedor, Los Angeles, and Ken Miles, Hollywood, took turns driving an MG into third place.

The crash took place as Richard Lyons, of Redwood City, Calif., tried to drive his MG around Dr. Skivington, who also was driving an MG. Lyons said, "It looked like the dog had a heart attack. He drove straight into the tree."

Lyons hit Skivington's car and Walter Klehefer, of Sausalito, Calif., and Von Neumann, both driving Porsches, plowed into the two cars. Another driver drove off the course to avoid the tangle of cars. Skivington was rushed to the Peninsula hospital and was reported to have suffered critical injuries. The other drivers were treated for minor injuries and released.

The New England intercollegiate tennis championships will be held at Hanover, N. J., May 14-17.

'Baby' Bauer Is Colonial Champ

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 12 (U.P.) — Marlene Bauer, a 20-year-old tournament "baby," shot a five-under-par 70 yesterday to win the Women's Colonial Golf championship with 297, while Babe Didrikson Zaharias wound up third and lamented, "I'm blind as a squirrel and nothing's going right."

Miss Bauer, the younger of the attractive Bauer sisters, began the last round of the 72-hole tournament five strokes behind the favored Mrs. Zaharias. But Marlene calmly reeled off six birdies with deadly putting and was in trouble only once as she grabbed the $1,200 first money.

Miss Bauer of Sarasota, Fla., collected a birdie on the 13th to go 2-up on her nearest rival, Betty Jameson. She sank an 18-footer on the 15th green and a 12-footer on the 18th to clinch her first major victory of the season.

The Huskies will wind up their pre-season games tomorrow against Ft. Lewis. They won a doubleheader from Western Washington College of Education Saturday by scores of 7-3 and 5-3.

Trotters' Win

LOS ANGELES, April 12 (U.P.) — The fabulous Harlem Globetrotters built up a 14-point lead in the first half and then clowned their way to an easy 60 to 51 victory over the College All-Americans in an outdoor basketball game played before 21,523 fans in Memorial coliseum.

The Trotters, paced by Gardner with 18 points, and former Los Angeles high school star J. O. Gipson with 12, romped to a 37 to 23 half time lead. After that Goose Tatum led them through a second half of crowd-pleasing high jinks.

Ball Fans Await Season Openers

NEW YORK, April 12 (U.P.) — Were the major league baseball season openers decided last March when Boston's Ted Williams, New York's Yogi Berra, and Milwaukee's Bobby Thomson broke the Red Sox overcome the early absence of their star slugger and put an end to the New York long reign in the American league? Can Cleveland after finishing second to the Yankees three straight seasons?

Can the Braves continue their momentum and overtake the Dodgers despite the loss of Thomson, their hard-hitting outfielder, for at least another month?

And what about Baltimore, which returned to the majors after 51 years to inherit the franchise of the St. Louis Browns?

All these answers will begin to take shape Tuesday when the major league baseball season gets under way in eight cities. For the first time in years all openers will take place the same day and all games will be played in daylight.

Despite industrious efforts on the part of the 14 other clubs to strengthen themselves, the defending champion Yankees and Dodgers are prohibitive favorites to add to their laurels—the Yankees are even money to capture their sixth straight flag and the Dodgers are 7 to 10 to make it three in a row.

President Eisenhower will throw out the first ball in Washington at 1 p.m. MST Tuesday as the Nats will try to get the Yankees off on the wrong foot. Either eighthander Bob Porterfield or southpaw Chuck Stobbs will hurl for Washington against Lefty Ed Whitely Ford.

Mel Parnell, who has beaten the Athletics 21 out of 26 times, will open for the Red Sox against Little Bobby Shantz.

Southpaw Billy Pierce will oppose veteran righthander Early Wynn in the Chicago-Cleveland inaugural.

In the Detroit-Baltimore inaugural neither manager—the Orioles' Jimmy Dykes or the Tigers' Freddy Hutchinson—is decided about his pitcher.

The Braves will have Bob Buhl, a hot pitcher all spring, get the opening day shot against Cincinnati's Bud Podbielan.

Pittsburgh, opening the season at home for the first time since 1893, will have Bob Friend, their oldest in point of service although only 23, on the mound. He will face Robin Roberts, the ace Philadelphia righthander.

Carl Erskine will hurl for the Dodgers, who oppose their bitter rivals, the New York Giants, at the

French Pilots Anger Yanks, Reports Aver

HONG KONG, April 12 (AP)—American civilian fliers in Indochina are angry at French fighter pilots because they refuse to strafe communist gun positions and therefore expose the Americans to heavy anti-aircraft fire, unimpeachable sources said today.

The Americans, civilians employed by civil air transport, have been dropping supplies to the defenders of Dien Bien Phu from an altitude of 3,000 feet, informants arriving from Saigon said.

French Fly High
French fighter pilots are giving cover from a height of 12,000 feet, the sources said.

As a result of the lack of protection, the Americans have been forced to fly at an altitude too high for accuracy and many supplies intended for Dien Bien Phu have fallen into red hands, the sources said.

Duty Is Risky
The communist anti-aircraft fire was reported to be so intense that the American pilots are running great risks.

These sources said the Americans asked the French to strafe red positions from low levels but that the French refused to take any chances.

Because the French are flying at such a high altitude, their napalm (flaming gasoline jelly) bombing is not as effective as it could be, the source said.

Gas Overcomes 20 Worshippers

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, April 12 (AP)—Ten little girls in white lined up for Holy week confirmation in the Egved village church in Jutland Sunday. Suddenly a member of the congregation fainted.

One after another, 20 of the worshippers, including one of the confirmation candidates, keeled over.

Finally the pastor called off the service and the congregation fled to the churchyard.

Most of the congregation recovered after medical treatment in the open air. A few were hospitalized and later pronounced out of danger.

A stove leaking carbon monoxide into the room was blamed.

Red Encyclopedia "Pans" Wyoming

MOSCOW, April 12 (AP)—Residents of "Valomina" can take it straight from the Great Russian encyclopedia that their state is "one of the most backward, with hardly any industry at all."

Wyoming comes under the letter "V" and rates half a page in volume 6 of the encyclopedia. And in the Soviet view, it doesn't hold much of a place.

Something could be made of "Valomina," however, the Russian journal says, if only the big ranchers and capitalists would give the proletariat a better break.

Idaho AEC Man Resigns Position

IDAHO FALLS, April 12 (AP)—Glenn M. Hostetter has resigned as director of safety and fire protection activities at the atomic energy commission's Idaho operations office to accept a similar position with Taconite Construction company, Duluth, Minn.

Ralph V. Badie, safety engineer at the national reactor testing station, was appointed acting chief of the safety and fire protection section, according to W. C. Funk, acting office manager.

Daring Pilot Gets Drastic in Clutch

INDIANAPOLIS, April 12 (AP)—When dives and twists wouldn't shake loose his stuck landing wheel, the pilot of a national guard P-51 fighter plane plunked down hard on the runway with his good wheel and jared its obstinate counterpart into place.

Circling, Lieut. Leighton Dorsett, Terre Haute, came back for a safe landing with this report: "I wasn't scared."

He added that the maneuver was easier than it looked.

School Property Is Slated for Sale

SANDPOINT, April 12 (AP)—The reorganized Sandpoint school district will offer $7,875 worth of school property for sale Thursday.

Several small schools have been closed at the request of patrons in order that children could attend centrally located schools. This is the second school property sale since the Sandpoint county schools were reorganized into one school district several years ago.

Pheasant Is Guinea Pig

Removing a wing band from a pheasant in the University of Idaho's experimental testing project are Norman Chupp, left, Fremont, Neb., and Clyde Novak, superior, Wis. The graduate students in wildlife management are testing the birds' color preference of dyed grains to determine a color the pheasants will avoid for use in poisoning ground squirrels and rodents. (University press service photo—staff engraving)

Experiment on Pheasants May Save Hundreds From Poisons

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, April 12 (AP)—Seven pheasants in the University of Idaho's small animal laboratory may save the lives of hundreds of birds in Idaho.

These seven pheasants are undergoing a rigid testing program—the first research study conducted in the new laboratory—to determine the birds' color preference of dyed grains such as wheat. Why dye grain, and what difference does the color make? Kenneth H. Hungerford, assistant professor of wildlife management, explains the importance of this experiment this way:

Farmers are using poisoned wheat and other grain to rid their fields of ground squirrels and rodents. These animals are generally color blind, but pheasants can distinguish between colors. The experiment, then, is to find the color which pheasants dislike most for the poisoning of squirrels and rodents, thus avoiding the possibility of birds being caught innocently in the death trap.

The color testing program is divided into two categories: (1) how much of each colored grain will the pheasants take—initially—and (2) how long will it take the birds to learn that the dyed bait is the same as the uncolored grain.

Colors are rotated on the seven pheasants, both male and female. Some birds have the same color for a week, others have different colored grain every day. The position of the colored grain in relation to the bird and the undyed grain also is rotated.

Colors being used in the experiment are blue, green, orange, yellow and red.

Conducting the experiment under the supervision of Hungerford are two graduate students in wildlife management, Norman Chupp, Fremont, Neb., and Clyde Novak, Superior, Wis. The project is in cooperation with the Idaho state fish and game department.

Concluding rites were conducted at Sunset Memorial park.

Cubs Meet

JEROME, April 12—The story of the "Wizard of Oz" was enacted Friday night as Cub Scouts of pack 38 presented their monthly program to parents and friends at the fellowship hall of the Methodist church.

Each den presented skits depicting a portion of the story.

Awards were presented to the Cubs by Darle Sullivan. They included Larry Darling, Charles Robinson, James Payne, Dennis Hutchison, Paul Jones and Wayne Miller.

Mrs. Gilbert Tilley, den mother for den two, presented the den chief cord to Scout-Bobbie-Burr. Gordon Vining was presented with the webelos award.

Hearing Set

SHOSHONE, April 12—At the April school board meeting Friday night the budget for coming year was outlined and a public hearing on it was set for May 10.

The school building bond election on April 27 and proposed building plans were discussed.

Self-Confessed "Spy" for Reds Finding FBI Hard to Convince

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Ludmila Sergeevna Mikalova is a unique person in Washington today, despite the fact that there are lots of other girls around town that are 24 years old, blonde and just as attractive.

She is unique in two ways: (1) She is voluntarily in jail—whereas everyone else there wants out, and (2) she freely admits she was a Soviet espionage agent.

The trouble is that she is having a tough time convincing anyone she really was a spy.

Miss Mikalova, who first registered at a hotel here as Mrs. Claire Wilson, was arrested last Friday night on charges that she left the west coast without permission of immigration authorities. She is under a deportation order for pro-communist activities.

At the time, she was telling the FBI all about how she was trained in Soviet espionage in Shanghai eight years ago and about how she had been paid as much as $1,000 a month for spying on the west coast.

Despite her story, the FBI let immigration agents take her into custody. And despite her story, she was promptly released on only $1,000 bond.

The next day, Miss Mikalova voluntarily gave herself up at the district jail because, she said, she feared the vengeance of Soviet agents.

"Much as I hate jail," she told reporters, "I'd rather do that than be in constant danger."

How long she stays there is up to her. Her attorney, John W. Brennan, said she probably could be released on $1,000 bond any time she wants—at least until her hearing April 20 on the charge of leaving California without official permission.
